

REVEALED!

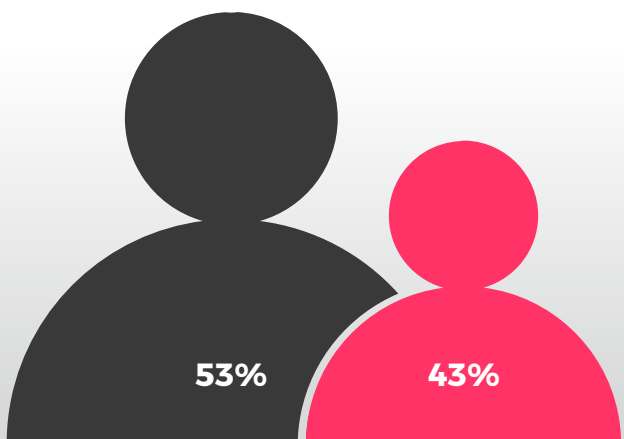

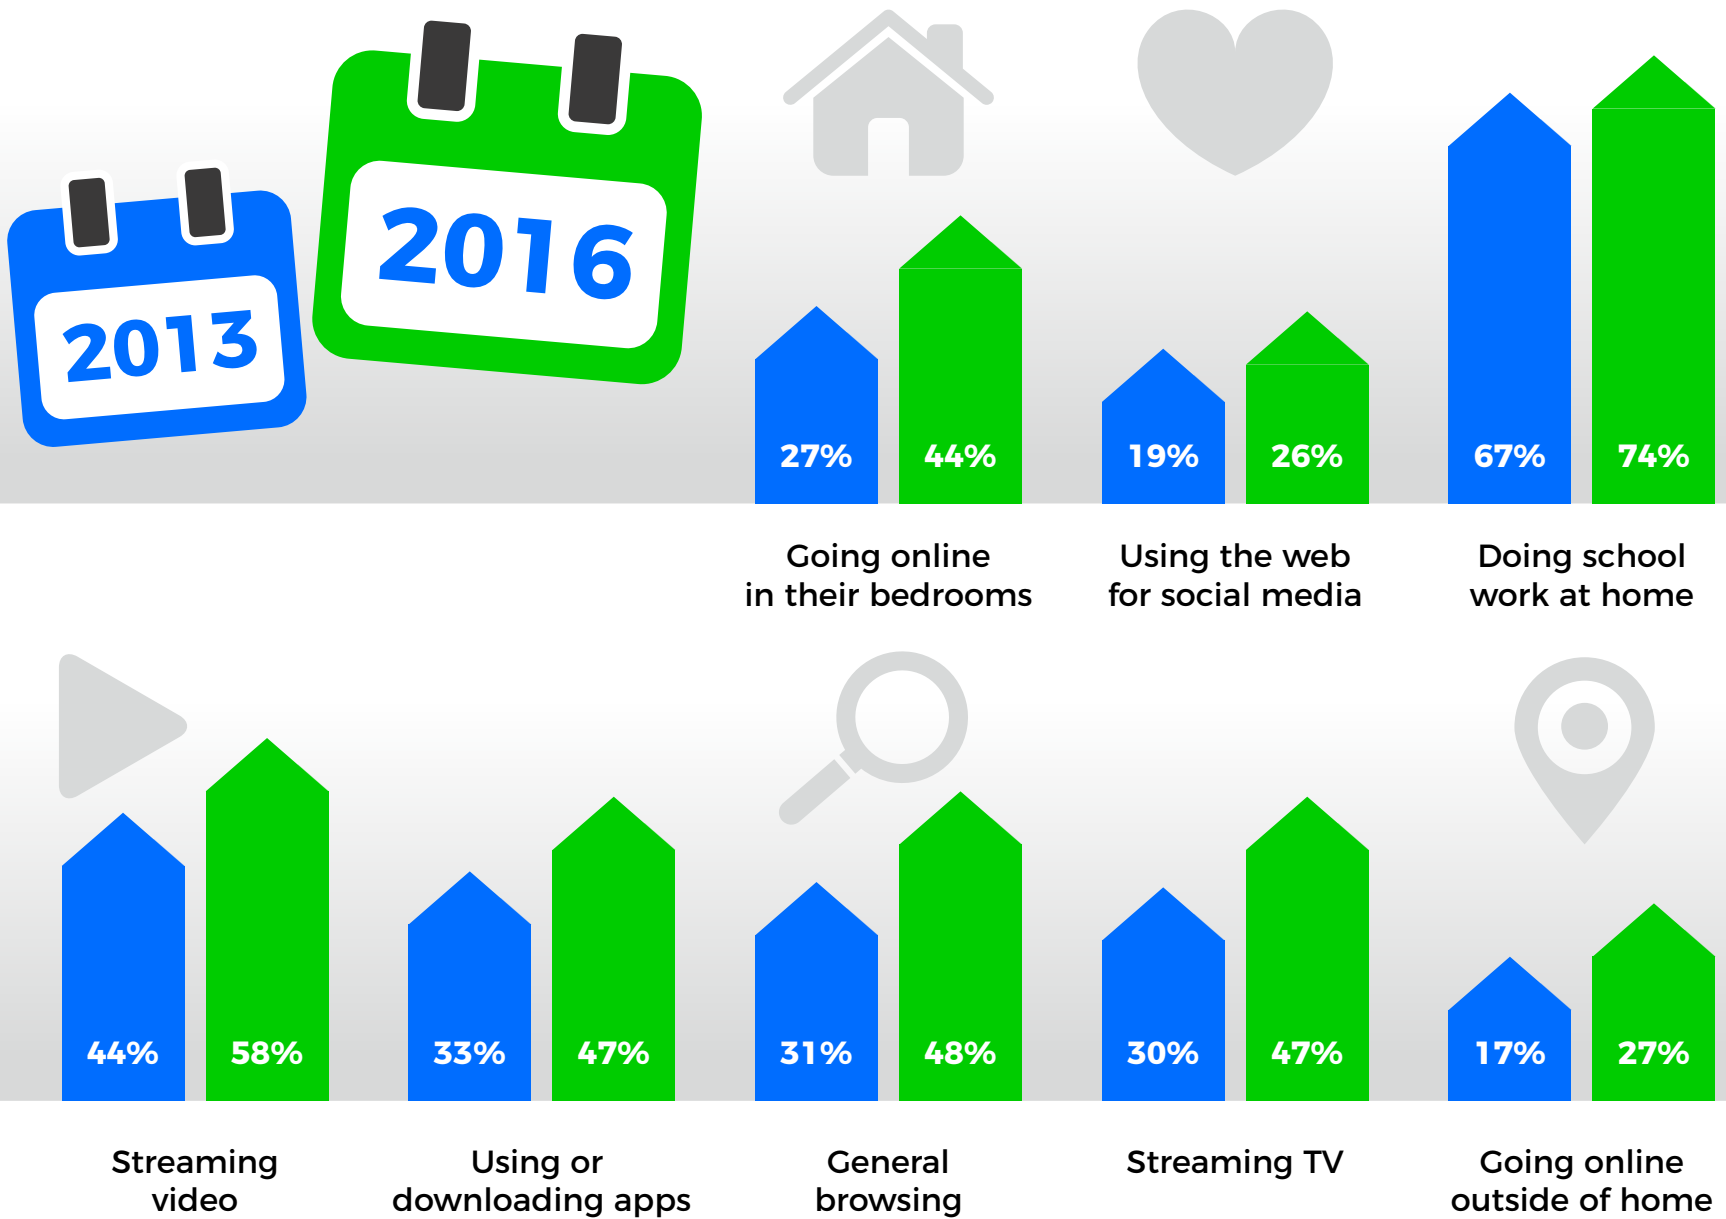

internet
matters.org

The secret life of six-year-olds online

Six-year-olds today are as digitally advanced as 10-year-olds were just three years ago, new research shows

Increase in six-year olds online activities since 2013

Parental supervision

The number of parents saying they are always present to supervise their child aged six when they are online, using computer devices, has gone down in the last three years from 53% to 43%.